The purpose of this effort was to develop modifications on an SMK-23 Visual Simulator Attachment for determining the training value of various types of visual simulation system configurations. This report documents the required modifications to the SMK-23 television system to convert it from projected field sequential color operation to projected high resolution monochrome. Also documented is the replacement of the projection system with a high resolution monochrome lens-monitor system. A comparative evaluation of the original SMK-23 television system and the two modified display systems is presented. An improved SMK-23 model lighting system is described which enhances the television display contrast and yet uses only 20% of the original light power. (Author). The record of each copyright registration listed in the Catalog includes a description of the work copyrighted and data relating to the copyright claim (the name of the copyright claimant as given in the application for registration, the copyright date, the copyright registration number, etc.). The acoustics of a recording space can have a real impact on the sounds you create and capture. The book gives an essential grounding and understanding to how real music sounds behave and are perceived in real spaces. With a clear and simple style Howard and Angus walk you through the theory- the science of sound engineering and music production, and the practical ? how to apply it to music spaces so create professional sound, using real world examples and providing audio clips and recorded sounds to work with. Updated throughout the new edition uncovers the acoustic application for today's recording industry. The website is packed with audio clips, questions and answers, a calculation facility as well as links and resources. First multi-year cumulation covers six years: 1965-70.
